Effective February 14, 2024, Ryan Hayes was appointed by the Honorable Judge David B. Atkins in the County of Cook, State of Illinois for the Business. Order attached as Exhibit A.

RECEIVER'S BOND

The Receiver was not required to obtain a bond for this appointment.

INSURANCE

The Receiver obtained copies of the Business insurance policies and requested to be added as additional insured to the commercial general liability policy, auto liability, and excess liability, on a primary and non-contributory basis with a waiver of subrogation in favor of the additional insured. A copy of the certificate is hereby attached as Exhibit B. Please note the insurance policy has been extended on a month-to-month basis as the Receiver intends to terminate the policy at the conclusion of the case.

DESCRIPTION OF THE BUSINESS

Rowboat Creative, LLC was a creative merchandising agency that offers custom screen printing, embroidery, direct to garment, dye sublimation, live branding, creative design, and fulfillment services.

EXISTING LITIGATION

The Receiver is aware that certain creditors may be considering taking action against the debtor for unpaid debts but is not aware of any filed lawsuits at this point in time.

OVERVIEW OF ACTIVITY DURING THE PERIOD

During the Period, the Receiver focused his efforts on securing either a private bulk buyer or an auctioneer to sell the equipment and inventory assets of the Company. The Receiver secured Aaron Industrial Solutions LLC (the "Auctioneer") on June 25, 2024. The auction concluded on July 23, 2024, with unofficial and unaudited gross proceeds of approximately $145,000.

The Receiver also worked with ownership during the Period to return any and all customer stored goods/products back to the customer. Rowboat Creative provided fulfillment services for some of their customers that required them to store excess product at their warehouse. The Receiver has requested that customers execute a release form after picking up their goods, attached Exhibit C.

As of this writing the Receiver has not closed the asset purchase agreement (the "APA") with the shareholder that put forth the LOI, Mr. Guariglia. Mr. Guariglia has requested login and password information pertaining to all of Rowboat Creative's email accounts, URL's, data storage, QuickBooks, and other similar accounts or storage platforms. Pursuant to the June 6, 2024 order, attached as Exhibit D, the Receiver is still seeking the turnover of certain items from the Defendant. As recently as July 29, 2024, the Receiver has received confirmation from Mr. Zangrilli that he will be producing the URL and email account information to the Receiver and had to decouple his personal email accounts from the business accounts. It is the Receiver's understanding that with this information, Mr. Guariglia intends to close on the APA. The Receiver is still under the opinion that Mr. Guariglia's offer provides the unsecured creditors with the highest and best recovery.

The Receiver's agents have spent considerable time in June and July to clean the warehouse space in preparation for delivering a broom clean space back to the landlord. The Receiver has continued to work with the landlord and provide requested information to exit the premise in a quick and orderly fashion.

BUSINESS OPERATIONS AND STATEMENT OF FINANCIAL AFFAIRS

As discussed in prior reports, the business was insolvent and could no longer support its expenses based on the fact that sales goals were difficult to achieve, and vendor debts and the requested payment plans could not be maintained.

The Receiver has been providing all creditors with claim forms and is accumulating verified submissions to handle debts on a pro-rata and priority basis, subject to administrative expenses after the liquidation and monetization of all assets is complete.

Receiver's Bank Balance as of July 29, 2024 = $409.26

RECEIVER RECOMMENDATIONS

The Receiver believes the best resolution for the business and its creditors is to sell the assets under an APA, consistent with Mr. Guariglia's LOI, sell any remaining assets (likely de minimus after the auction) and donate clothing items that could not be sold, and complete the cleanout and turnover of the leased space to the landlord. The Receiver plans to pool together the proceeds from the collective sales and distribute them to the creditors who have submitted bona fide claims on a pro-rata basis. This will be completed once the final accounting is done. The liquidation timeline is contingent on the relationship with the landlord, which remains amicable at this point in time and the distribution to creditors will occur shortly thereafter.

PROFESSIONAL FEES

A detailed invoice showing hourly services provided by the Receiver and his agents at Rally Capital Services for the month of May and June 2024 totals $28,479.79. The invoices listed below are hereby submitted to the Court for approval, attached as Exhibit E.
